

THE STORY

Have you ever heard about SNOW FACE, the damned undertaker ? Well, this is an old but sadly true story. He killed almost everybody in this town and tried to kill me so many times that even today it's difficult for me to sleep. It's true that it was 'nt easy to stay alive. Always looking over my shoulder, never able to relax; this man was a magician, he came from Hell. He could control everything that he wanted to, from birds to buffalos, and even people were obedient to him. His power was unlimited and totally evil. He made his fortune from working for Death. I wonder where he is now .

I had not eaten for 3 days when I caught sight of this town.....

THE GAME

The game is divided into four levels. In each level Snow Face will try to kill you in a succession of trials. For each trial there is only one action that can keep you alive. This may be achieved by moving left or right, by jumping or squatting down with the usual movement keys or by starting a predefined action with the action key. You have to succeed at least once in each trial, before encountering the Shaman who will lead you to the next level, if you can survive. You start the game with 4 lives, and you will be credited one life at each new level, or each 10000 points. When starting the game select your difficulty level:
